Carter Taking Drastic Moves To Help Dollar

By R. GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Saying the nation's economy is threatened, President Carter today announced drastic measures intended to stop the long slide in the value of the U.S. dollar, including borrowing up to $30 billion in foreign currencies to buy unwanted greenbacks.

The measures also includes stepped-up sales of U.S. gold reserves and an almost unprecedented one percentage point increase in the Federal Reserve Board's key bank lending rate to a record high of 9.5 percent.

The action seemed certain to set off another round of increases in interest rates throughout the American economy, which could further tip the nation toward a recession. But officials said they still think a recession can be avoided.

Carter said the actions are necessary "to correct the excessive decline in the dollar which has recently occurred." He was referring to the everworsening drop in the value of the dollar, which has declined as much as 40 percent against such major currencies as the Japanese yen, German mark and Swiss franc.

Lately, the slide has gotten worse rather than better, and Carter's new anti-inflation program did nothing to improve the dollar's position, which was a bitter disappointment to the administration.

Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal said the administration decided "strong action had to be taken," and Carter approved the measures last weekend.

"The continuing decline in the exchange value of the dollar is clearly not warranted by the fundamental economic situation. That decline threatens economic progress at home and abroad and the success of our anti-inflation program," Carter told reporters at the White House.

Treasury Undersecretary Anthony Solomon said the measures "represent a commitment to massively intervene, if necessary," to support the dollar. The United States has been under growing pressure from abroad to intervene in foreign exchange markets by buying up dollars with borrowed foreign currency.

Solomon said "there's been a speculative attack against the dollar," meaning that speculators are purposely trying to manipulate the dollar's value downward to reap quick profits.

Newspaper Announces Rate Hike

An increase of 25 cents per month in the home-delivered price of The Murray Ledger & Times has been announced, effective today.

The increase raises the carrier-delivered price of the daily newspaper to $2.75 per month and the carriers themselves will share in the increase. Rates for mail subscriptions are unchanged.

"We regret that we are forced to impose this small increase on our subscribers," circulation manager T. P. Delaney, Jr., said.

a little cooler

Mostly sunny and a little cooler this afternoon with highs in the mid to upper 60s. Clear and cool tonight with lows in the low 40s. Sunny Thursday with highs in the upper 60s.

Kentucky Extended Forecast
Friday through Sunday: Little or no precipitation with above normal temperatures.

But Blumenthal declined to comment on a government investigation of allegations that some major U.S. banks might be among the speculators driving the dollar down. He said it was a Justice Department matter.

The government until now had resisted large-scale intervention to back the dollar because of a feeling that the nearly one-half trillion in dollars held abroad could be mobilized by speculators to undermine any U.S. support and make the situation worse.

The dollar-support measures, announced jointly by the Treasury Department and the Federal Reserve Board, include:

—Borrowing up to $15 billion in marks, yen and francs from West Germany, Japan and Switzerland under so-called swap agreements, which are special arrangements that exist between governments for currency-support operations.

—The issuance of up to $10 billion in foreign currency-denominated U.S. government securities, meaning the government would issue them for foreign currencies, which it could use to buy up dollars.

—Borrowing up to $3 billion in foreign currencies from the International Monetary Fund, also for support operations and also sell another $2

Charges Against Russell McClure Dropped

By SY RAMSEY
Associated Press Writer

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Franklin Circuit Judge Squire Williams said today he has dismissed the indictments against former state finance secretary Russell McClure in connection with the transfer of two state vehicles to the family of former state Democratic Chairman Howard "Sonny" Hunt.

Williams indicated he did so because technically there is no penalty attached to the statute which forbids such a transfer, except generally under sealed bids or public auctions.

The judge said he similarly dismissed charges against Melvin Young, formerly an aide in the finance department.

The penalty aspect was one of the key points raised by McClure's lawyer 10 days ago when he moved to dismiss the case.

McClure, a former vice president of Morehead State University, had resigned earlier as finance secretary to take charge of special projects for Gov. Julian Carroll.

He currently is on leave from that job.

Young, of Danville, was assistant properties director in the Department of Finance, and also is on leave from his current job as fiscal and personnel director in the state Department of Labor.

Robin Griffin of Lexington, the lawyer for McClure, said the language of the statute used in the indictment originated in 1942 and had no penalty.

Commonwealth's Attorney Ray Corns had acknowledged that his main concern was over the argument about a valid penalty.

McClure and Young were indicted last month for the transfer of a 1972 Ambassador and a 1970 International Scout.

The case first came to light in a report by state Auditor George Atkins, who said he thought state statutes and regulations had been violated in the

'The Music Man' Coming To Town

Meredith Wilson's "The Music Man" is coming to Murray for performances beginning Thursday, Nov. 9 at A. Carman Pavilion.

Susan Johnson will serve as musical director for the fall play by Murray-Calloway County Community Theatre, according to a spokesman for the event.

Johnson, who earned her music degree in piano from Idaho State University, has been involved with musical productions for over 30 years, the spokesman said.

"The director's most noted productions are 'Amahl and the Night Visitors,' and 'Viva Mexico,' which she produced while living in Nairobi, Kenya," he noted.

As a first time director for the community theatre, Johnson is comfortable with the progress of the "very strong cast" that includes 50 members, the spokesman said.

He pointed out that "because of scheduling conflicts," the play will run

Thursday and Friday, Nov. 9 and 10 and Friday and Saturday, Nov. 17 and 18. A. Carman Pavilion is located across from Calloway County High and is the same location as the Kappa Haunted House held recently.

The opening act for each performance will be 8 p.m. Admission is $2.50 for adults, $2 for children under 12 and $1.50 for senior citizens, the spokesman said.

Murray System Students Should Be Immunized

Murray School System officials say all students in the Murray city system must be properly immunized by Nov. 10.

A spokesman indicated Calloway County Health Department personnel has notified parents if their children need further immunization.

The action is an outgrowth of a policy school board members adopted earlier this fall. State law requires a valid up-to-date immunization certificate to be on file for all school children in Murray city schools at all times, city school officials say.

The spokesman said on Nov. 10 letters will be mailed to parents from school administrative offices notifying them of a need for the up-to-date record. "Parents may check at the office of their child's school prior to Nov. 10 if they have any questions about their children's current immunization status. We much prefer keeping all students in school but we are required by law that each child have necessary immunization," the spokesman warned.

Murray School Superintendent Robert Glin Jeffrey said during a school board session in late October that about 30 percent of students attending Murray schools have no immunization records on file with school officials. He said fewer students in the upper class levels are immunized compared to students in the lower class levels.

The board policy indicates all children attending Murray schools must be immunized against diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough, polio, rubella (German or three day measles) and mumps (measles).

School officials say to check with the county health department or private physician to determine if a child's immunization record is up-to-date.

During Halloween Here

Numerous Fires, Egg Throwing Incidents Noted

While Calloway County Sheriff's Department personnel and volunteers with the county fire-rescue squad were busy with fires Halloween night, Murray Police Department contended with egg throwing in the city.

Firefighters with the county fire-rescue squad extinguished at least eight structure, tire and bridge fires during the evening, a spokesman said today.

A sheriff's department spokesman said three juveniles were arrested in Dexter while in the city, Murray Police cited one person for disorderly conduct.

According to a police spokesman, city police "cleared" the courthouse after 10 p.m. Halloween night "without incident."

The police spokesman said city police investigated a number of egg throwing incidents.

Calloway County Sheriff's Department and fire-rescue squad personnel worked as a team on a number of fires in the county Halloween night, spokesmen said today.

County fire-rescue squad personnel extinguished a bridge fire on Tobacco Road, a bridge fire on Martins Chapel Road, a barn fire west of Lynn Grove, an abandoned house fire on Doc Wallace Road, a stock barn fire on KY 893 near Lynn Grove, a barn fire east of Lynn Grove and at least two tire fires on U.S. 641 at Dexter.

A spokesman for Murray City School System said city schools had practically no damage done overnight.

Calloway County Sheriff Max Morris today complimented the work done by volunteers with the fire-rescue squad. "If it hadn't been for them we would have had lots of damage, more than what we had."

Personnel with Murray Fire Department extinguished four leaf fires and two garage fires Halloween night, a spokesman said. A fire burned a garage located at 211 South 11th Street belonging to Lilly Brown. Cause of the blaze was unknown. Another fire burned a garage belonging to Dave Hopkins at 223 S. 12th. Cause of that blaze was also unknown, a spokesman said.

Police and fire agencies throughout Kentucky didn't have much fun on Halloween night, because they spent much of the evening responding to widespread complaints of vandalism and mischief.

In Mayfield, police said several display windows were broken by rock-throwing youths. Police were guarding the exposed businesses to prevent looting until store officials could make temporary repairs.

State Police said that three Bowling Green residents were killed late Tuesday when their car smashed into a vehicle that had parked off Kentucky 85 to allow a child to trick-or-treat in the area.

Killed were Robert Douglas Wilson, 22, Carlos R. Lee, 31, and John Earl Jones, 33. The accident report said that the car driven by Wilson was exceeding 100 mph when the accident occurred.

Three passengers of the parked car were taken to City-County Hospital in Bowling Green with injuries. They were identified as Randall R. Jones, 18, Bonnie Jones, 16, and Sharon Lindsey, 16, all of Bowling Green.

State Police at the Hazard post said that an apparent prankster blew up a transformer that knocked out electrical service to much of Leslie County. Police said that telephone service in that southeastern Kentucky county was also disrupted.

Kentucky Power Co., which serves Leslie County from Hazard, was investigating the incident.

Police in Louisville and Jefferson County reported what officials termed the "usual" amount of egg throwing and minor pranks, but nothing serious.

There were no reports of foreign objects in fruits and candy given to trick-or-treating youngsters.

State Police said the derailment of two railroad cars in Harlan County might have been the result of a Halloween prank.

Senior Citizens Greenhouse Program To Get Underway

The Senior Citizens of Calloway County have planned a program for the utilization of the greenhouse, owned by the Senior Citizens of Calloway County at 1610 West Main Street behind the St. John's Episcopal Church, according to Galen M. (Tripp) Thurman, executive director of the local group.

Alfred Wolfson will be the instructor for the program of raising plant cuttings for house plants. Persons interested in this program should deliver their cuttings on Friday, Nov. 3, between 10 and 11 a.m. to the greenhouse. The special class will be held on Friday, Nov. 10, from 10 a.m. to noon.

Rose cutting classes have been scheduled for Wednesdays on Nov. 15, 22, and 29 from 10 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. at the greenhouse with Albert Parker as the instructor.

Thurman said other programs that will utilize the greenhouse will be planned during the winter months and will be announced through the news media.

Open hours for individuals to work at the greenhouse will be on Monday and Tuesday from 10 a.m. to noon and on Thursday from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m.

"We are looking forward to a good turn out of interested persons and knowledgeable and enjoyable classes. All items that could donated will be tax deductible to the donor and will be greatly appreciated," Thurman said.

Persons having questions regarding the greenhouse program may call Viola Olsing at 753-9432 or Kathie Gentry at 759-1991.

MSU On Receiving End Of More Than $5.5 Million In Grants, Aid

More than $5.5 million in federal and state grant money has already been committed to Murray State University for the 1978-79 fiscal year, making it the largest grant year in university history.

Less than four months into a new fiscal year, the total of $5,541,724 includes student financial aid funds and grants to be administered through both the Murray State University Foundation and the university's general fund.

A breakdown by university officials includes these figures: student $145,800; Upward Bound, $135,000; financial aid, $2,225,764; Foundation, $1,323,805; and university grants through the general fund, $1,992,155.

Student financial aid monies include an estimated $1,200,000 to be awarded through the federal Basic Education Opportunity Grant program and another $435,710 for the Federal Work-Study Program of student employment.

Among grants administered by the Foundation in 1978-79 are these: Advanced Institutional Development Program, $174,275; Project Apollo, Project EASE (Environmental Approaches to Special Education), $129,000; Career Education for the Handicapped, $124,261; Integrated Science-Mathematics-Education Project (ISMEP), $112,167; and Teacher Corps, $101,545.

A grant of $925,976 for the Basic Skills Education Program at Ft. Campbell is the largest administered through the general fund. Another $169,793 has been awarded to the Young Adult Conservation Corps (YACC) project. Both are continuing grants.

Mrs. Hodges Speaks At Meeting, Philpot Home

Members of Chapter M of the P.E.O. Sisterhood were entertained on Saturday, October 28 in the beautiful rural home of Mrs. Lawrence Philpot. With Mrs. Donald Burchfield assisting, the hostess served a ten o'clock brunch preceding the business meeting. Bowls of golden rod graced the serving tables.

The Chapter president, Mrs. Alfred Lindsey, Jr., presided at the meeting and gave the invocation before the meal.

Dr. Joan Maupin, who was a guest at the meeting has accepted an invitation to transfer her membership to Chapter M from her Chapter U, in Athens, Georgia.

Several members of the local chapter were recent guests of Chapter P, Paducah in the home of Mrs. Philip Hamilton, on the lake at old Kuttawa.

Saturday's program was presented by Mrs. Harlan Hodges who reviewed "I Came To Love You Late" published by Revell & Company. The author, Joyce Landorf has written a novel telling the life of Martha, based on the Biblical accounts of the warmth of the relationship of Jesus with the family at Bethany. She stressed the changing emotions and attitudes in the character of Martha who was the head of the household in which Jesus was so frequently a visitor.

Dr. Hatton Speaks At DAR Meeting At The Bucy Home

Dr. Roy O. Hatton, assistant professor of history at Murray State University, was the guest speaker at the meeting of the Captain Wendell Oury Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution held Oct. 14 at the home of Mrs. Robert Bucy on Earl Court.

"Aaron Burr" was the subject of the program by Dr. Hatton who said Burr was a most controversial figure in history. Born in Newark, N. J., he was third vice-president of the United States in the American Revolution. Dr. Hatton said he showed marked military talent, took part in Benedict Arnold's Canadian Expedition in 1775; was given rank of lieutenant-colonel in 1777 and was attached to Washington's, then Putnam's staff, and was forced to resign from the Army on account of ill health.

Dr. Hatton said Burr was admitted to the bar, moved to New York City, and in 1800 was a candidate for president, receiving a tie vote in the Electoral College with Thomas Jefferson. The House of Representatives was then required to ballot and Jefferson was elected as president and Burr as vice-president due largely through the aid of Federalists led by Alexander Hamilton.

The speaker said Burr, angered by this and later events, challenged Hamilton to a duel. Hamilton met him, but fired into the air, but Burr shot and fatally wounded him. Indicted for murder, Burr fled to the West and Northwest where he planned what is known as the "Aaron Burr Conspiracy." He was acquitted in 1807 after a notable trial for treason. Later he returned to New York City to resume the practice of law.

Mrs. John Livesay, regent, opened the meeting with a pledge to the flag; Mrs. Ed Diuguid, chaplain, led the DAR ritual and prayer; Mrs. Corinne McNutt acted as secretary.

The hostess, Mrs. Bucy, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Carolyn Smallman of the Paducah DAR Chapter, and Mrs. Stark Erwin, served dessert and punch from a beautifully appointed table centered with an arrangement of fall flowers.

Guests were Dr. and Mrs. Hatton, Mrs. Mary Evelyn Gorman and Mrs. Emily Ann Goldston, regent and member respectively of the Paris, Tenn., DAR chapter, Mrs. Allene Claxton, Mrs. Jean Homra, and Mrs. Leonard Vaughn, prospective members. Other members also present were Mrs. James Byrn, Mrs. Loal Cole, Mrs. Max Hurt, Mrs. Carl Lockhart, Mrs. Estel Morehead, Mrs. Ray Munday, and Mrs. Wells Purdon, Sr.

The chapter will meet Saturday, Nov. 11, at 1:30 p.m. with Mrs. Diuguid and Mrs. Purdon as hostesses. Dr. Hughie Lawson will be the speaker.

Mayre Briggs Honored By Secretaries Group

Mrs. Mayre Briggs, Route 4, Murray, recently was honored by the Murray chapter of the National Secretaries Association, International, in recognition of her attainment of the coveted rating of Certified Professional Secretary (CPS).

The honor guest at a dinner at the Holiday Inn, Mrs. Briggs has been at Murray State for the past 30 months and is secretary to Dr. Rich Stinchfield, administrative assistant to Murray President Constantine W. Curris.

The principal speaker of the evening, Dr. Curris told the 45 NSA members and their guests that a smooth working relationship exists between a boss and the secretary when both work together to help the other. Stinchfield also spoke briefly.

Before coming to Murray State, Mrs. Briggs worked in the office of former City Clerk Stanford Andrus for more than five years. A native of Murray, she is married to Bill Briggs, who is retired.

Mrs. Mary Ellen Frost, CPS, Paducah and president of the Kentucky Division of NSA, was present and officially presented Mrs. Briggs with her CPS certificate.

Other special guests for the event included Mabel Dillard and Leslie Blaine, both of Murray and friends of Mrs. Briggs.

Managing the Common Cold

Q: Mrs. N.S. writes to ask whether any progress is being made in research on the cause and cure of the common cold.

A: In spite of persistent research efforts, little progress has been made in the management of the common cold.

A cold has been found to be due to a complex mixture of viruses. A virus vaccine made from these does not appear capable of conferring a lasting immunity. An infection from these viruses confers only a short immunity, and a victim is subject to a repeat infection after a brief time.

These viruses are highly contagious and are transmitted by nasal droplets, oral secretions or by physical contact, such as a handshake with a person who has an acute upper respiratory infection. The viruses are transferred to the mucous membranes of the mouth or nose.

The virus cells are very similar to human cells, and it has been most difficult to find medicines that will kill the cold viruses and not damage normal tissue. Some progress has been made in medicines such as amantadine and vidarabine, which act against viruses with little or no harm to other cells. While the future is unpredictable, the greatest hope of controlling virus diseases is the discovery of chemicals which can act adversely on the viruses and not harm other cells. If this becomes possible, control of the virus diseases may improve in a manner similar to that against dangerous bacterial infections which have been conquered in the past.

Treatment of the common cold presently consists of:

- Rest: Going to bed promptly or limiting activity at the onset of a cold increases the chances of shortening the disease and decreases the chances of it being spread to other persons.

- Fluids: These are helpful in keeping secretions flowing freely and in washing out the toxic effects of the viruses.

- Medicines: These consist of aspirin or aspirin-like chemicals to lower fever and relieve aching. Antihistamines are useful to dry excessive nasal discharges and to promote drowsiness and rest. Cough remedies should be used if coughing is a problem.

It should be recognized that medicines have no curative benefits on the course of a cold but are to be used only for symptomatic relief. The effects of the cold viruses are self-limiting and are not serious or life-threatening. Antibiotics or sulfa drugs have no effects in curing or shortening the course of a cold. If high fever occurs, the disease is more than a cold. It often means the presence of the flu or some other systemic infection and may require an evaluation by a physician.

Capitol Ideas

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON

Stains On Capitol Steps Made By Blood?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Are the dark and ugly blotches that stain the marble treads of a Capitol stairway the blood of a mortally wounded ex-congressman?

An 88-year-old legend says they are. In this case, legend may be right. It was on Feb. 28, 1890 that William Preston Taulbee, 39, until recently a Democratic House member from Kentucky, turned into the dimly lit House staircase. The time was about 1:35 in the afternoon.

Halfway down, Taulbee met the man he blamed for discrediting him: Charles Kincaid, 35, a reporter for the Louisville Times.

Kincaid had a pistol in his hand. In a few seconds there was blood on the stairs.

It was the second time that day the two had met.

By most accounts their feud had begun two years before with a series of articles in which Kincaid linked Taulbee to a woman in a government office.

Kincaid claimed he had repeatedly offered Taulbee space to refute the allegations but had been ignored.

When the two Kentuckians encountered each other just outside the House chamber before noon on Feb. 28, Taulbee demanded Kincaid speak with him.

Kincaid later claimed Taulbee grabbed him by the ear. Rumor said it was Kincaid's nose that was grabbed. Inquest witnesses said Taulbee, a 6-footer described as rawboned, strong and sinewy, grasped Kincaid's shoulder and the lapel of his coat.

"I am not armed," said Kincaid, according to the Washington Post. Kincaid was described as 5-foot-3, frail, nervous, and alling.

"Then you had better be," the former House member reportedly replied, and the two separated.

When they met again there was little time for words.

The House doorkeeper was on the stair with Taulbee and saw Kincaid. He later gave this account to The Washington Evening Star:

"Kincaid said, 'Mr. Taulbee, you can see me now.' As he said this he fired a pistol and shot Taulbee beneath the left eye. Taulbee cried out 'Oh' and some of the blood from his wound spurted over my left hand."

"I turned to Kincaid and said, 'For God's sake... don't shoot any more.' We walked down to the foot of the stairs and there I heard Kincaid say, 'I am the man that shot him.'"

During a trial in 1891, Kincaid pleaded self-defense and was acquitted. Decades later, Taulbee's son, John, described the trial as "a farce" and claimed that witnesses were "bought off."

After 88 years no one is willing to swear that the dark stains in the porous marble steps are blood. But the Capitol architect says they are not natural and were "undoubtedly" caused by a liquid.

John Taulbee had his own unscientific explanation: "It is almost impossible to remove blood stains when they are left by a person who has been murdered."

HEARTLINE

Heartline is a service for senior citizens. Its purpose is to answer questions and solve problems — fast. If you have a question or a problem not answered in these columns, write Heartline, 114 East Dayton Street, West Alexandria, Ohio 45381. You will receive a prompt reply, but you must include a stamped, self-addressed envelope. The most useful replies will be printed in this column.

HEARTLINE: I was married to my first husband for 43 years and he died when I was 61 years old. I started drawing Social Security widow's benefits at that time. I remarried at age 62, and my widow's benefits were reduced 50 percent. I am now drawing benefits on my present husband's account as a wife, since it is a higher amount than I was receiving after they reduced my widow's benefits. With the new laws going into effect in January, will I be eligible to reapply for my widow's benefits and receive a higher amount for marrying after the age of 60? — L.C.

This new law seems to be giving many widows a lot of trouble, as far as trying to determine whether they will benefit from it. Our Communications Center has been flooded with letters about the new laws. Since it does concern many widows, we would like to try again to explain it more fully.

In your case, yes, you will be eligible to apply for widow's benefits on your deceased husband's account. Your benefits would be reduced somewhat since you have been drawing another type of benefit for several years, but they would not be lowered, as they were at the time of your remarriage, by 50 percent. It would be less of a reduction, so you would receive a higher benefit.

This new law will also give other widows an opportunity to apply for benefits on a deceased husband, even if they have remarried, as long as they did not remarry before the age of 60. If they did marry before 60, they will be eligible for benefits on a deceased husband if they are again widowed or divorced.

For most widows who did remarry and are still drawing the reduced amounts, their benefits will automatically be increased in January 1979. They will not need to make application for this increase. However, if you are a widow and are drawing benefits other than widow's benefits and if you are age 60 or older, you should apply for the benefits as early as possible before January.

HEARTLINE: Does Social Security offer any type of benefits to parents who are dependent upon a child for support. If so, what are all the rulings and how much of a benefit can the parent expect to receive? — K.L.

Yes, if the son or daughter had worked long enough under Social Security before death and the parent is at least 62. Marriage, under certain conditions, after the son or daughter's death may effect entitlement as can the parent's own Social Security benefit, if any.

In answer to another reader's question as to how much the parents can collect, one parent can collect 82.5 percent of the benefit the son or daughter would have received if deemed age 65 upon death. If there are two parents, each would receive 75 percent.

HEARTLINE: Are there any special requirements for a parent to collect Social Security on a child's work record? — E.R.

It must be shown that the child was providing 50 percent of the support of the parent at the time of the child's death.

HEARTLINE: I am a Civil Service retiree, age 67. I retired three years ago at age 64. I recently was offered a job that would bring in much more money for me so I decided to take the job and drop my Civil Service annuity for the time being. Can I ever reinstate my benefits in the future and how do I go about doing this? — P.N.

Civil Service benefits can be reinstated by contacting the proper authorities. There are no reductions in benefits for this procedure. To have your benefits reinstated, contact the U.S. Civil Service Commission, Bureau of Retirement Insurance and Occupational Health, Washington, D.C. 20415. They will send you the forms you need to have your benefit reinstated. This process can take anywhere from two to four weeks.

Inside Report

Begin-Carter Shootout

WASHINGTON — Israel's display of anger at President Carter directly results from top-secret American replies to questions by King Hussein of Jordan about the future of Jewish settlements on the West Bank.

These answers, published here for the first time, hint that President Carter expects Israeli inhabitants of the settlements to start clearing out of Arab territory at the end of the five-year transitional period. During that period, Israel, Jordan, Egypt and the Palestinians are pledged to restore "the legitimate rights of the Palestinian people," consistent with Israeli security.

In answer to the king's question about "the status" of Israeli settlers — "Will there be any (settlements) after the end" of the five-year transition, he asked — the U.S. replied as follows:

"Whatever number that might remain beyond the transitional period... would presumably be agreed to in the negotiations concerning the final status of the West Bank and Gaza."

Those words infuriated the Israeli government, and particularly Prime Minister Menachem Begin, when the secret U.S. answers to Hussein were shown to the Israeli government on Oct. 19 and discussed with Begin by Assistant Secretary of State Harold Saunders the next day. To demonstrate Israel's defiance of President Carter for implying to Hussein and the Palestinians that the settlements will become vestigial remnants, Begin went public with his long-nourished plan to "thicken" the settlements.

Mr. Carter's response was equally angry. He took Secretary of State Cyrus Vance's draft of a presidential protest letter to be sent to Begin "and doubled it in spades" before cabling it to Begin.

Thus, the settlements question, on which Mr. Carter feels he has been betrayed more than once by Begin, returned to haunt his Mideast peace hopes. Equally forbidding is this suspicion known to be held by the president: that Begin's settlements offensive stemmed less from demands by his hard-line Likud coalition than from his strategy to throw up barricades to prevent King Hussein and the Palestinians from joining the peace talks.

Begin's fury at the U.S. answers to King Hussein's 14 questions about the Camp David agreement go beyond the settlements issue. For example, Hussein asked: "What is the U.S. position" on whether the self-governing authority to be created on the West Bank includes East Jerusalem "both in terms of territory and people?"

"The U.S. will support proposals," said the U.S. response, "that would permit Arab inhabitants of East Jerusalem who are not Israeli citizens" to vote in the election leading to self-rule. Further, these Jerusalem Palestinians could share "in the work of the self-governing authority itself."

There is nothing startling in this statement of American policy on occupied East Jerusalem. Ever since the 1967 war, the U.S. has denied Israel's legal power to absorb East Jerusalem. The U.S. has never recognized Jerusalem as Israel's capital.

But the political impact of the U.S. answers to Hussein is linked in Begin's mind to Israel's magnanimous agreement to withdraw from all its settlements in the Egyptian Sinai. To Israel, the clear intent of the answers to Hussein is to encourage Arab hopes that the West Bank settlements are also doomed.

Israel's counterattack raised the threat of delay in the negotiations for a peace treaty between Israel and Egypt, despite the coincidence of a Nobel peace prize for both Begin and President Anwar Sadat. Beyond that, the Carter-Begin shootout risks future U.S. retaliation against Israel, which is seeking billions of dollars from the shrinking U.S. budget.

"Begin is slapping Carter in the face with one hand and reaching for Carter's wallet with the other," one administration official said privately. He predicted the aroused president might cut "a cool billion" from the bill Israel is now preparing for the U.S. to finance the Israeli-Egyptian treaty.

Such passions will cool. What will not change is Mr. Carter's Camp David pledge to be a "full partner" in the peace game. That was Hussein's first question. The U.S. replied that it would use its "full influence" to get a West Bank settlement and that "President Carter will continue to take an active personal part in the negotiations."

If Israel really is trying to scuttle the West Bank talks and get a separate peace with Egypt, as the White House suspects, those words brought no comfort to Prime Minister Begin.

Today is Wednesday, Nov. 8, the 312th day of 1978. There are 53 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1950, the first battle between jet airplanes took place as American fighters were attacked by North Korean MIGs in the Korean War.

On this date: In 1793, the Louvre Museum in Paris was opened to the public.

In 1864, Abraham Lincoln was re-elected president.

In 1889, Montana became the 41st state.

In 1923, Adolf Hitler's beer hall putsch failed in Munich.

In 1937, the Chinese abandoned Shanghai to Japanese invaders.

In 1974, eight former Ohio National Guardsmen were acquitted of violating the rights of students in the 1970 demonstrations and killings at Kent State University.

Ten years ago: The Assembly of Roman Catholic Bishops in France told married couples it was up to them to decide for themselves about birth control.

Five years ago: The AFL-CIO began a formal nationwide campaign demanding the immediate impeachment of President Richard Nixon.

One year ago: Israel was shelling Palestinian guerrilla concentrations in southern Lebanon.

Today's birthdays: Actress Katharine Hepburn is 69 years old. Singer Patti Page is 51. Pitcher John Denny of the St. Louis Cardinals is 26.

Thought for today: Only a mediocre person is always at his best — Somerset Maugham, English novelist, 1874-1965.

Bible Thought

In thee, O Lord, do I put my trust: let me never be put to confusion. — Psalm 71:1.

How vital is our profession of trust in God. If we really, truly, and sincerely put our trust in Him we'll never worry about being put to confusion!

LRC Co-Chairmen Propose To Revise Kentucky's Shield Law

By HERBERT SPARROW
Associated Press Writer

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The co-chairmen of the Legislative Research Commission want Kentucky's reporter shield law revised to provide adequate protection to all sides.

House Speaker William Kenton, D-Lexington and Senate President Pro Tem Joe Prather, D-Vine Grove, have also asked the Interim Joint Committee on Judiciary-Statutes to undertake a comprehensive review of all elements of search and seizure because of recent developments in that area.

The requests were contained in a letter to committee chairman Rep. Jim LeMaster, D-Lexington.

Kenton and Prather said the problem of shielding news organizations has become more acute in recent months due to actions of the U.S. Supreme Court and courts in other states. They said Kentucky's current reporter shield law is inadequate for media protection after Supreme Court rulings a few years ago relating to Paul Branzburg, a former reporter with The Courier-Journal.

The Supreme Court ruled that Branzburg had to testify before a grand jury concerning criminal activities he had witnessed while gathering a news story.

Kenton and Prather said they recognize there are equally important constitutional rights on all sides of the issue and urged

LeMaster's committee "to come up with a measure that is fair to all legitimate competing needs and satisfy the courts."

They urged, for example, a measure that would provide vital information for a criminal case while at the same time protecting newsrooms from "arbitrary and capricious fishing expeditions by government."

"An intelligent balance needs to be found between the needs of the state for information on which to base criminal prosecutions, the needs of the defendant in a criminal case to have compulsory process in his own defense, or the needs of either the plaintiff or defendant in a civil action and the needs of the news media in the protection of their first amendment rights with regard to a free press," Kenton and Prather wrote.

Kenton and Prather also addressed the recent expansion of the application of search warrants, including a Supreme Court ruling that searches can be made of newsrooms even when there is no suspect.

Gov. Julian Carroll recently announced search warrant guidelines for Kentucky which require state police to obtain approval of the justice secretary before seeking warrants to search news media offices.

He directed the secretary to approve such requests only when the information sought from members of the media cannot be obtained elsewhere.

While the news media is particularly concerned about the "expansion of search and seizure," all citizens may be directly affected at one time or another by such a process and, therefore, it is of concern to all citizens," the letter said.

"Whether or not there have been or will be abusive use of this type warrant is a matter of some contention and any study of the matter must be dealt with in the light of judicial mandates, legitimate law enforcement concerns and the rights of all of our citizens," the two legislators said.

They asked for "a general comprehensive review" that gives "all concerned an opportunity to be heard..."

Kentucky Holds Lead In Burley Production

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky remains by far the nation's largest burley tobacco producing state, but still is a distant second to North Carolina in production of all tobacco varieties, says the Kentucky Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

North Carolina is expected to produce about 824 million pounds of tobacco this year, mostly flue-cured varieties, Robert Milton of the reporting service said Tuesday.

Kentucky's projected tobacco production is 453 million pounds, with burley making up 416 million pounds of the total, said Milton, reached by telephone.

North Carolina produced 745 million pounds of tobacco last year and Kentucky produced 452 million pounds, including 415 million pounds of burley, he said.

Other top tobacco producing states and their projected poundage totals for this year include South Carolina, 151 million; Tennessee, 144 million, and Georgia, 137 million.

Virginia, which ranked third in tobacco production last year with 143 million pounds, falls behind Georgia in this year's estimates with 135 million pounds.

BALLET PERFORMANCE SET — School children in Murray and Calloway County in grades kindergarten through four, will be guests at a special matinee performance of the second act of the famous "Nutcracker" ballet to be presented by the Cincinnati Ballet Company Friday, Nov. 3 at 12:45 p.m. in Lovett Auditorium. The presentation of "The Nutcracker" has been a long-planned effort of the Music Department of the Murray Woman's Club, with the assistance of Murray Civic Music Association, Murray State University, the Kentucky Arts Commission, Calloway County Elementary Schools, Murray Elementary School and Fisher-Price Toys. Since seating in Lovett Auditorium must be limited to 1200 people due to fire regulations, only those children in kindergarten through fourth grade have been invited to attend the matinee, a spokesman said. The second act, in which all sorts of confections come to life and dance, features famous dances such as Waltz of the Flowers and dance of the Sugar Plum Fairy. The ballet company will perform again Friday night for MCMA members.

Carter Administration May Be Compelled To Take Steps To Support Puny Greenback

AN AP News Analysis
By R. GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unless the dollar does a surprising about-face on world money markets, and does it quickly, it seems likely the Carter administration will be compelled to take new measures to try to support the battered greenback.

But there is considerable skepticism among monetary experts here that there is anything more the administration reasonably can do that would help the U.S. currency, which again fell to record lows Monday on world money markets.

Carter promised foreign dollar-holders an energy bill. He got that. He promised an anti-inflation program. He's announced that. But neither caused more than a wiggle in the steady downward trend of the dollar.

If dollar traders took either measure into account at all, they apparently discounted them as inadequate. Markets are volatile, however, and while a reversal of the trend one day soon is not regarded here as impossible, no one seems willing to bet on it.

The latest plunge in the dollar was set off by the report last Friday that consumer prices increased 0.8 percent in September alone, pointing to a possible worsening inflation rate, which appears to be the chief worry of foreign dollar-holders at the present time.

Lloyd Atkinson, chief staff economist for the Joint Economic Committee of Congress, said foreign dollar-holders apparently now want the administration to bring on a recession to try to slow inflation, although they don't come right out and say so.

"They clearly are calling for much tighter fiscal and monetary policies than the Carter administration or the Federal Reserve Board are willing to pursue," he said in an interview Monday.

Barry Bosworth, director of the Council on Wage and Price Stability, said Monday in New York that if progress isn't made against inflation within six months to a year, a worse recession than the 1975 economic collapse could result. "And that, in turn, was the worst recession of the post-war period," he said.

The slide in the dollar in the past week has shown foreign dollar-holders do not believe Carter's new anti-inflation program can be successful in significantly slowing the inflation that undermines the purchasing power of the dollar and therefore makes it less attractive to hold.

It also could be further indication that foreigners are skeptical that Carter's energy program will achieve its goal of encouraging fuel conservation so as to cut purchases of foreign oil and help reduce the U.S. trade deficit that is now pushing more dollars into foreign hands.

So now there's pressure to look at new choices or adjust old ones. The administration is considering some of them and some are just ideas being attributed to anonymous foreign dollar-holders:

—Buy back billions of dollars on world money markets in an attempt to counter momentum toward selling off dollars — a choice clearly under consideration but one that some officials say could backfire.

—Tighten the money supply by raising interest rates and using other maneuvers just enough to cause what economists refer to as a "pause" in the economy without causing it to slide into a recession — a touchy strategy already partly in force.

—Tighten the economy really tight. All but close it down. Bring on that recession with its staggered national economy and high unemployment, anything to halt inflation. This is what Atkinson says some foreign dollar-holders want, but there is no indication such a drastic step is even being considered by the White House.

Foreign exchange dealers in London are quoted as saying only weighty intervention by the United States to buy up dollars in world money markets can stem the slide now. They said it should borrow from the International Monetary Fund for that purpose.

That could be done fairly easily but might not be desirable.

The United States can unconditionally borrow up to $4.4 billion from the IMF, and the U.S. Federal Reserve Board has agreements with central banks of other major nations under which it could borrow up to $22 billion in foreign currencies for dollar-support operations.

However, the administration and the board have been reluctant to intervene in a major way for fear it might invite additional attacks on the dollar. In addition, of course, such loans have to be paid back.

Babysitters

May Be Under

Minimum Wage

By HERBERT SPARROW
Associated Press Writer
FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) —

Babysitters and hired companions for the sick or elderly could, at times, have to be paid minimum wages and overtime, according to the state attorney general's office.

While state law clearly exempts those positions from minimum wages and overtime, Assistant Attorney General Martin Glazer said in an opinion released Thursday that the situation is complicated when a placement agency is used.

"There does not appear to be any problems of interpretation where the employer is the homeowner who hires someone directly for babysitting duties or companion care," Glazer said.

"However, the matter is complicated when a third party is involved in the process," he said. "Who is the employer — the homeowner or the company supplying the babysitter or companion?"

"In the case of the babysitter, this fact is important because the exclusion to the general requirement of payment of minimum wages or overtime pay is allowable only where the babysitter is employed in the home of the employer," Glazer said.

"If the employer is the supply company and not the person for whom the babysitter sits, no exclusion is permitted."

Glazer said the supply company would be considered the employer, and thus required to pay the minimum wage and overtime, if it decides what hours the employee works and how much he or she is paid.

However, if the company merely acts as a broker and only refers babysitters to employing homeowners, who then determine wages and hours, the exclusion would apply.

Glazer said the situation is somewhat different in the case of a companion for the sick or elderly. The companion does not have to work in the home of the employer to be excluded from minimum wages and overtime.

"But, to qualify, the employee must actually live in with the sick person," Glazer said. "He cannot have a residence elsewhere and still qualify for the exemption."

"Merely staying with a sick person for 24 hours will not constitute living-in. He must actually live in that house," he said.

The opinion was for Mark Miller, labor standards investigator for the state Department of Labor.

Sure-Handed Thomas A Multi-Talented Racer

By TONY WILSON
Sports Writer

The tight end rushed from the line of scrimmage 10 yards downfield, then quickly cut inside. At the same moment his hands touch a short pass, a linebacker crunched into him. Score — David Thomas 1, linebacker 0.

Watching Thomas, Murray State's senior tight end, perform is much like watching the good guy in an old movie. One knows what is going to happen. Mr. Good will eventually get his man, and Thomas will catch the pass.

One observer gets the impression that, even when Thomas is tackled, the defender breathes a sign of relief to see the burly 6-2, 212-pound Thomas on the ground. That's about the only place he can do no damage.

Thomas has been damaging opposing secondaries ever since he left Covington, Tenn., four years ago to play football at Murray State. As a junior last season, he led the Racers in receiving with 29 catches for 407 yards and three touchdowns.

And he currently has 24 for 298 yards thus far this year, including seven receptions last week against Ohio Valley Conference power Eastern Kentucky. Murray was edged 24-21 to drop its season record to 4-4.

Thomas didn't exactly start this season with a bang. In fact, he hardly made a sound, catching only one pass in the season opener — a 24-21 loss to Southeast Missouri — and none against Evansville a week later.

"I think that was point in which I began to enjoy blocking for the first time in my life," says Thomas. "I love to catch passes, but I decided that if I wasn't, I would concentrate on my line play."

That statement seems to amply sum the personality of Thomas, a soft-spoken industry and technology major. While most football players psych themselves into a frenzy prior to a game, Thomas takes almost the opposite approach.

"I don't like to be hit on and slapped around before a game like most guys," Thomas says. "It really makes me mad." Keeping that in mind, Thomas must go into a rage every time he makes a catch in a game, since almost invariably, a reception by a tight end is followed by a bone-jarring belt by a defender.

"Not really. I just accept as part of my job. It's something you just have to get used to," he says.

Don't get the idea that Thomas is a good 'ole country boy. As the son of Navy man Warner Lee Thomas, he's lived in so many different places he has trouble recalling them all.

"I was a center until my sophomore year in high school in Okinawa. Then I switched to tight end, and I've played that position ever since." Tennessee Tech coach Don Wade probably wishes Thomas had stayed in Okinawa. "The coaches give us trophies for the best offensive and defensive performance during a game," says Thomas. "For some reason, the past three years I've gotten mine against Tennessee Tech."

As a sophomore, he caught eight passes against the Golden Eagles; as a junior, seven; and this year, seven again for 58 yards and two touchdowns.

Thomas, like a great deal of talented athletes, thinks of playing football professionally. But he may have a legitimate chance.

"There were some scouts from New England and Tampa Bay here last year, and a New York Giant scout talked to Coach (Mike) Gottfried this year. I asked Coach Gottfried if I needed to do anything to keep them interested, but he said he would take care of it and for me not to worry about it. That took a load off my mind."

Thomas' talents don't stop as a tight end. He has kicked off for the Racers since midway through last season and began kicking extra points during the Middle Tennessee game this year.

He booted his first one after Murray scored its last touchdown against the Blue Raiders and was successful on four of five attempts against East Tennessee before missing on his only try against Eastern Kentucky. "That's the only time in my entire that I've ever been nervous in a game," Thomas says. "I think it was because of the fans sitting everywhere, even level with the playing field (over 19,000 homecoming fans) that I was nervous. I lost my concentration and missed it." He even tried a field goal — from 50 yards out — against Middle, but it fell short. "I really kicked it badly," said Thomas. "In practice that week, I hit three out of four from 53 yards, so I thought I could do it."

"They wouldn't buy me a kicking shoe last year, so I had to use my old high-school shoe," Thomas said. "But I got one this year."

David Thomas - Easy-Going Gridder

Members of the Colorado Rockies and Detroit Red Wings hockey teams appear to be having square dance during a recent game in Denver, but it was more than that. Actually, a brawl was in progress — one that resulted in 22 penalties, totalling 69 minutes for Colorado and 55 minutes for Detroit in the National Hockey League game.

Associated Press

Is Two Too Many?

Kilmer, Theismann Both Piloting Redskins

By the Associated Press

Jack Pardee sits in his office in Washington each Monday wondering who the Redskins' starting quarterback is — Joe Theismann or Billy Kilmer.

Last Sunday it was Kilmer, for the first time in nine games. Next Monday night in Baltimore it'll be Kilmer again. But the Sunday after that... who knows?

It is not, as you might think, a problem for Pardee, this business of finding a steady starter. Or, as another head coach who faced the same quandary a few years back, all teams should have such problems.

Midway in the 1971 season, Landry, who had vacillated between Roger Staubach and Craig Morton, finally settled on Roger the Dodger. The result: seven straight victories in the regular season, playoff victories over Minnesota and San Francisco and a Super Bowl triumph over Miami.

Landry, Staubach and Morton remember those seasons of uncertainty and can understand what Pardee, Theismann and Kilmer are going through these days. Not that Landry sympathizes, you understand. One does not feel sorry for a team one is trying to catch.

"They have two good quarterbacks operating with one good young one and one veteran. We went through the same thing with Roger and Craig," said Landry.

"Craig played several good years for us while Roger was a youngster just out of the service and learning the trade. Eventually Rog reached the point where we didn't have a 'problem' any more. We knew exactly what we had to do and we did it. Anytime two quarterbacks on your club reach the same efficiency you have to make some kind of decision. With us, Craig was good — but so was Roger."

Morton was Dallas' No. 1 draft choice in 1965 and appeared in four games that season. Staubach, a 10th-round draft choice the year before, didn't join Dallas until he'd completed a four-year hitch in the U.S. Navy. They were teammates until midway in the 1974 season, when Morton was traded to the New York Giants. He's now with Denver.

Staubach and Morton each said the Cowboys were in danger of falling apart when they shared the starting quarterback job and suggested Pardee might have made a wrong move by benching Theismann so soon.

"We were not a consistent team and the reason was we had no leadership. We had to define who the quarterback was," Staubach said of the 1971 Cowboys. "Now, I don't know how Washington's players feel about Theismann or Kilmer, but I was surprised when I heard Coach Pardee had replaced Theismann so quickly. When we played them he played a good game and I thought he was having a fine year."

"I know I've had bad games, sometimes a few of them in a row," Staubach said, "and it's taken me some time to get out of my ruts."

Added Morton: "Guys have a way of responding to whoever's in there. Roger had his guys behind him and I had mine... I can't agree with the philosophy of changing quarterbacks so quickly. Eventually it hurts you in the big games."

Lutz of the United States defeated Yannick Noah of France 6-2, 7-5; Robin Drysdale of Britain beat Andrew Pattison of Rhodesia 6-4, 7-6; Uli Pinner of West Germany downed Bruce Manson of the United States 6-4, 6-4.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The first Mexico City International Cycling Grand Prix will be held Nov. 16-19, the National Sports Institute said.

The event, to which seven countries have been invited, will be split into four stages with a total of 387 miles.

It's Security, Not Salary, Most Free Agents Are Searching For

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK — Want to buy yourself a ball player?

If you were a ball club shopping in the free agent marketplace, all it took before was a checkbook that could accommodate some large numbers. Now, it may require instead the willingness to make a long-term commitment to athletes who are nearing the ends of their careers.

The majority of players available in Friday's re-entry draft are over 30 and some of the most notable names, like pitchers Tommy John of the Los Angeles Dodgers and Luis Tiant of the Boston Red Sox and third baseman Pete Rose of the Cincinnati Reds, are past 35.

That's a dangerous age for an athlete and both the clubs and players involved in this year's grab-bag know it. So the priorities in contract negotiations figure to be years, not dollars.

Most free agents are interested in long-term security. That's why slugger Richie Zisk got a 10-year contract when he signed with Texas last winter. Oscar Gamble's deal with San Diego was a six-year agreement that included deferred payments that will insure him an annual income of $100,000 from 1984 through 1990. That obligation now belongs to Texas following Gamble's trade to the Rangers.

Zisk and Gamble, both 29, were in their playing primes when they signed their lucrative free agent contracts. The majority of Friday's free agents are at a stage where teams prefer short-term deals and players want long-term security.

A case in point was John's disagreement with the Dodgers.

The 35-year-old left-hander wants a three-year contract but the Dodgers were willing to go only for two years, arguing that they had paid the pitcher for 1½ years when he was recuperating from complicated arm surgery.

John and his attorney, Bob Cohen, believe the 47 victories the pitcher delivered in the three years since he recovered repaid the faith the Dodgers showed in him and that at this point in his career he must be concerned with his family's security.

That translates to a long-term contract and so John will be bidding adieu to Chavez Ravine.

Because he is a quality pitcher, John will get a lucrative contract from a team looking to add pitching. The free-spending New York Yankees, who learned during the World Series that he is still an effective hurler, are one of the clubs expected to bid for him.

Atlanta owner Ted Turner says the Braves will draft Rose, who'll be 38 next April. But that doesn't mean he'll sign the peppercorn Reds veteran, who probably would prefer a contending team, like Philadelphia.

The Rams' Jason Town battles the Cosmos' Mark Whitaker during Murray Soccer Association play last weekend. The two teams battled to a 1-1 tie, while the Rowdies topped the Kentucky Kickers 2-1, and the Flyers beat the Marvels 3-2. The Flyers finished regular-season league play in first place, followed by the Rowdies, Kickers, Cosmos, Marvels and Rams. A single-elimination tournament will begin Saturday at 10 a.m. at the soccer field, located at the north end of the Murray-Calloway County Park.

Young Scores First Hole-In-One At Oaks

Wally Young, Oaks Country Club professional, scored his first hole-in-one at the Oaks club on the par-three, 160-yard third hole Tuesday.

Young used a seven-iron for the ace on his way to a round of 66, six-under-par. Witnesses were Bill Bogard, Bill Seale, Tony Montgomery and Dale Nance.

Young plans to play on the Professional Golf Association's mini-tour in January.

Son Of Yanks' Lemon Dies In Car Crash

By the Associated Press
PHOENIX, Ariz. — Jerry Lemon, 26, son of New York Yankees manager Bob Lemon, died in a local hospital Tuesday of injuries suffered Friday in a one-car traffic accident west of here.

Lemon's brother, Jim, is a junior high school baseball coach here.

Maricopa County sheriff's deputies said Lemon was alone in his car when it ran off the road at high speed. Deputies said he apparently tried to correct the car, causing it to overturn several times. He was thrown out.

Funeral arrangements are pending in Long Beach, Calif., where his father lives, officials said.

Murray Near OVC Total Offense Lead

By the Associated Press
NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Western Kentucky quarterback John Hall, who riddled the Morehead defense with five touchdown passes last weekend, has taken over the Ohio Valley Conference lead in passing and total offense.

In team statistics released by the conference office here, Eastern Kentucky continues as the OVC's leading offensive team while Austin Peay leads in team defense.

Hall is averaging 151 yards a game through eight starts, in which he has passed for 1,203 yards and rushed for 5 yards.

Murray tailback Danny Lee Johnson, the OVC's leading rusher, is second in total offense with 130.3 yards a game. All of Johnson's yardage has come on the ground, giving him a sizeable lead over Eastern's Dale Patton, who is averaging 106.4 yards a game.

Patton, however, leads in scoring with 9.4 point a game to Johnson's runnerup average of 8.3.

Hall is averaging 11.6 pass completions a game, with 93 completions in 175 attempts for 53 percent. Murray's Mike Diokens is second in completions per game with 9.4.

Western Kentucky's Eddie Preston, who caught seven passes and scored three times against Morehead, moved ahead of Tennessee Tech's Craig Rolle in receiving. Preston is averaging 4.3 receptions a game to Rolle's 4.1.

Eastern Kentucky's Joel Scrafton, who broke an arm against Western Kentucky two weeks ago and is out for the season, remained the league's leading punter with a 42.5 yard average. Middle Tennessee's Randy Saunders is second with a 40.6-yard mark.

Western Kentucky's Carl Brazley has five interceptions this season, while Eastern Kentucky's Jerry Parrish is averaging 29.4 yards per kickoff return. Austin Peay's Joe Grimsley is returning punts an average of 14.3 yards and Middle Tennessee's Stan Wright has logged 90 solo tackles.

Eastern Kentucky, second in the OVC title race to Western Kentucky, is averaging 377.6 yards a game on offense. Murray is second with 372.1. Eastern leads in rushing offense with 268.4 yards an outing while Western is the passing leader with 162.6 yards a game.

Austin Peay nipped Western Kentucky in this week's defensive figures. The Governors are allowing only 274 yards a contest, while Western has allowed 274.6. Austin Peay leads in pass defense, allowing just 53.1 yards a game. Morehead is the rushing defense leader at 156.1.

Murray State tight end David Thomas, who caught seven passes for 88 yards last week against Eastern Kentucky, hopes to have a chance to play professionally.

Loss Of Rose May Hamper Power Of Big Red Machine

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

The "Big Red Machine" is apt to become just another chugging, fluttering flyover without Pete Rose, predicts former teammate Tony Perez.

"I don't think Pete wants to leave Cincinnati — his heart must be heavy — and I don't know why the club would ever let him go," said Perez, reflecting on the major league baseball re-entry draft Friday in which Cincinnati's scrappy third baseman is the choicest article on the shelf.

"Pete — he's the man who puts the go in the machine."

Rose, 37, for 16 years the hustling, aggressive mainstay of the Reds, has placed himself on the block after failing to convince Cincinnati brass that he is worth $600,000 a year for the next three years.

"It is very sad," added Perez, speaking by telephone from his sub-tropical winter home in Santurce, Puerto Rico. "But it is the new way of life. Every man must fight for what he thinks he deserves. I hate to see this team broken up — it was such a great team when it was all together."

Perez was one of the first to go in the dismantling process. Now 36 years old, he went to the Montreal Expos in a four-player trade after the 1976 season.

After Rose, who's next? Johnny Bench? Joe Morgan? Observers said the departure of Perez fractured the delicate, magic chemistry of the team that won the National League pennant in 1970, 1972 and 1975 and captured the World Series in a dramatic seven-game series against the Boston Red Sox in 1975.

The Reds have given off few sparks since.

Perez was a settling influence among Latin American players on the squad, serving a role unofficially adopted by second baseman Morgan with the black players and catcher Bench with the whites.

"Rose, the stubby Reds infielder, whose fireplug physique made him an implausible candidate for baseball stardom, defies the old man with the scythe by his continuing exploits. During the past season he joined the dozen major leaguers who have collected more than 3,000 hits and stimulated diamond interest by challenging Joe DiMaggio's 56-game hitting streak. He finally was stopped at 44, a league record.

He came within two hits of his ninth 200-hit season, which would have broken the record of Ty Cobb.

Rose's value lies not in statistics, Perez insists, but in intangibles.

These intangibles include a love for the game that supercedes money and records and a fierce competitive drive. Pete once said he wanted to be buried at third base in Riverfront Stadium.

Says Perez: "I have never seen a man play the game harder."

It's Meriweather Who Turns In Jazzy, 20-Rebound Night

By the Associated Press

With a non-stop scoring machine like Pete Maravich in the backcourt and a rebounding terror like Truck Robinson up front, it doesn't leave much room for starring roles on the New Orleans Jazz.

But Joe C. Meriweather had his chance to grab the spotlight Tuesday.

Meriweather grabbed 20 rebounds, blocked nine shots and hit 14 points to pace the Jazz to a 97-92 National Basketball Association victory over Chicago. His performance — somewhat at least equaled Robinson's 28-point, 17-rebound evening and 18 points for Maravich.

"Joe Meriweather was a superman tonight," said Bulls Coach Larry Costello. "He looked like Bill Russell, a real flyswatter. Any time we tried to penetrate, he'd knock it back at us."

Meriweather also shut off Artis Gilmore, holding the Chicago center without a shot in the third quarter and to just six points in the second half.

"Joe C. was tremendous tonight," said Jazz Coach Elgin Baylor. "He rebounded very well, did a good job on Gilmore and was blocking everything."

Elsewhere in the NBA, Golden State outlasted San Antonio 139-138 in overtime; Phoenix beat New York 120-108; Milwaukee edged Kansas City 114-112; Indiana was a 119-114 victor over Cleveland; Atlanta topped Washington 110-108; Los Angeles mauled Denver 134-107 and Portland held off Detroit 112-96.

Warriors 129, Spurs 123.

John Lucas had 29 points and 14 assists and scored Golden State's final four points in a wide-open game. Lucas had tied the contest at 125 with 29 seconds left in regulation, forcing the overtime.

George Gervin had 34 points for San Antonio.

"Lucas is playing as well as any guard in the NBA right now," said the Spurs' Allan Bristow, who defended the slick Lucas for part of the game.

Suns 120, Knicks 108

Phoenix easily outclassed the Knicks in the second half after leading by just two points at halftime. New York was playing without scoring star Bob McAdoo, who has a back injury, and rookie guard Mike Richardson, out with a leg problem. The Suns made do without center Alvan Adams in the second half after he injured his ankle.

Paul Westphal had 35 points to pace the Suns to their seventh victory in 10 games, the best start in the franchise's history.

Bucks 114, Kings 112

Milwaukee broke a four-game losing streak behind Brian Winters' 27 points and Marques Johnson's 23.

But Bucks Coach Don Nelson said recently acquired guard Norm Van Lier "played super. We wouldn't have won the game without him."

Nelson wasn't pleased with the difficulty of the win.

"We've struggled too hard," he said. "It should never be this hard at home."

Pacers 119, Cavaliers 114

Johnny Davis' 27 points, including 11 in the final quarter, 24 points by Ricky

Sobers and 21 from Alex English led the Pacers over Cleveland.

Terry Furlow had 25 for the Cavs, who lost their fourth straight.

Hawks 110, Bullets 108

Jack Givens sank a jump shot with 17 seconds to go to boost the scrappy Hawks past the defending league champions. Eddie Johnson contributed 23 points to the Atlanta offense.

"We're a young team and we play in a lot of peaks and valleys," said Atlanta Coach Hubie Brown.

Landslide Vote Guidry Unanimous Cy Young Choice

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK — Ron Guidry, whose 25-3 record produced the best American League winning percentage since 1934, today became the fourth New York Yankee to win the Cy Young Award.

The 28-year-old left-hander won all 28 first-place votes to become the fourth unanimous winner.

Guidry started the season with a 13-game winning streak. He finished with 25 triumphs — 15 of them after losses by his team — on the way to the top winning percentage, .893, in the AL in 44 years and the best percentage ever for a 20-game winner.

His earned run average of 1.74 also was an uncontested league high, while his 248 strikeouts in 2732-3 innings were second to the 260 recorded by California's Nolan Ryan.

"It was a great season — a season a lot of pitchers dream about," said Guidry, the bandy-legged left-hander whose scrawny frame belies the speed of his fastball. "I don't think it's fully hit yet. I haven't had time to sit down and reflect on what I've been through."

"Maybe it will hit me one morning in the duck blind, when I'm hunting," said the native of Lafayette, La., where hunting fills his winter months.

The shock may hit him harder than most AL batters did this year. Guidry surrendered just 187 hits in helping New York to its second consecutive World Championship. Mixing a magical potion of sliders with his smoking fastball, he walked just 72 batters in his 35 starts.

The special committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America made Guidry the first unanimous winner since 1968, when Denny McLain of the American League Detroit Tigers and Bob Gibson of the National League St. Louis Cardinals won all the first-place votes.

Mike Caldwell of the Milwaukee Brewers was second this year, collecting 25 second-place votes and one third. Jim Palmer of the Baltimore Orioles, a three-time Cy Young winner, was third with 11 third-place votes and one for second place.

It was the second consecutive AL Cy Young for a Yankee pitcher. Relief ace Sparky Lyle, a forgotten man in New York's miracle comeback of 1978, won the prize in 1977.

This year's voting came as little surprise, but last week, when Guidry received two awards here in as many days, he was reluctant to consider the award his until official announcement was made.

"Everyone's been talking about it so much, I'm starting to believe I won it," said the quiet, affable hurler who nearly quit baseball in 1976, when the Yankees sent him to their Syracuse farm team in the International League.

"I was going up and down, between New York and Syracuse," Guidry recalled. "Then they brought me up for a month or so and this time I figured it was for keeps. But all I did was sit around and finally they told me they were sending me back to the minors. I got fed up."

He and his wife, Bonnie, were driving home — for good. "We drove for about an hour," he said. "I didn't say anything, and neither did Bonnie." Finally, Bonnie Guidry said, "Why don't you give it one more chance?"

"I thought about it and then I said, 'If you don't mind packing and unpacking, moving back and forth, then I'll do it.'"

He came back to the majors in 1977 and went 16-7 with 176 strikeouts in 31 games. Thus, over two seasons, Guidry's left arm has produced 41 victories in 51 decisions and 424 strikeouts.

Other highlights this year included an 18-strikeout game against the California Angels June 17; a club record nine shutouts; a club record for strikeouts — Jack Chesbro struck out 239 in 1904 — and the victory in the Yankees' 5-4 triumph over the Boston Red Sox in the one-game playoff that won the AL East title for New York.

"Sometimes, I would go to the mound and say, 'There's nobody that can beat me,'" said Guidry. And most times, that turned out to be true.

Now, there is a Cy Young Award to cherish. Until 1967, only one award was given, with New York's Bob Turley winning in 1958 and Whitey Ford in 1961. Since the award has been given the top pitcher in each league, only Lyle preceded Guidry to the pinnacle of AL pitching excellence.

"It's a great honor to win it this year," he said, "but it will mean more once I'm out of baseball, when I reflect back on the past."

No Passkeys To Wedlock?

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1978 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Tell SYLVIA IN GREENWICH, who's looking for a chastity belt, not to be stupid.

The use of the chastity belt caused much suffering among women in medieval times.

The constant chafing of the metal against the legs caused blisters, scars and gangrenous infections. Not to mention the weight of the belt, which caused chronic backaches and serious spinal deformities.

Hopefully, we've come a long way since then. But, Abby, what would happen if the husband lost the key?

CONCERNED FEMINIST

DEAR CONCERNED: Don't worry. There's always a Yale man around when you need him.

DEAR ABBY: I know exactly what SYLVIA is going through. She's the wife who's trying to find a chastity belt so she can put her husband's suspicions to rest.

I've been married for 14 years to a wonderful man whose only fault was his unreasonable jealousy. He loved me dearly, and although I've always been a true and faithful wife, he never trusted me out of his sight.

The daily accusations, denials and fighting were destroying our marriage, so together we designed something on the order of a chastity belt.

It's a tight-fitting rubber panty girdle over which I wear an old-fashioned type corset which laces up the back. My husband laces me into it every morning, tying the lace in a hard knot at the top where I can't reach it, let alone undo it. Over that I wear a snug-fitting wide leather belt which also fastens in the back with a small padlock like those used on suitcases. My husband carries the only key.

Every day he comes home at noon to help me in the bathroom.

This may sound like a humiliating solution, and I'm certainly not advocating it for all wives, but it saved our marriage.

HAPPY IN JULIAN, CALIF.

DEAR HAPPY: If you're happy in this kind of wedlock, more power to you.

DEAR ABBY: We at Anvil Arms do custom work in metal. We make swords and military items for museums and personal collections. Having made armor for the National Park Service for living history programs, the chastity belt should be no problem at all.

Of course, it would require some redesigning, since the chastity belt was notoriously uncomfortable for the wearer. We would also need the exact measurements to provide a proper fit.

May I add, Abby, after a hard day in the shop, I look forward to your column in the Salisbury Post, as it adds a little fun and a great deal of insight into human problems.

J. LUTHER SOWERS,
SALISBURY, N.C.

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine who makes gold jewelry told me he recently made a 14-karat gold chastity belt for the wife of a rich Arab in Beverly Hills. A month later this same Arab phoned and ordered NINE more.

J.R.

DEAR ABBY: I own a specialty sheet metal fabrication shop and can make a fine chastity belt with stainless steel that will not rust, tarnish or chip.

Three styles are available: snug, regular and bikini. Locking devices can be lock, padlock or combination. Items can be monogrammed at no additional cost.

It can be made on a time and material basis, and the only requirement is that the lady come to Indianapolis for fittings.

DONALD KEMP

DEAR ABBY: Tell the woman who wants a chastity belt that she can buy one in New York at a place called "The Pleasure Chest."

Ugandans, Tanzanians Fight In Tanzanian Border Town

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanzania (AP) — Invading Ugandan forces and Tanzanian defenders are reported locked in heavy fighting near a Tanzanian border town. Two American archeologists were among 67 foreigners who fled the shooting but there has been no word on other Westerners.

A Tanzanian government statement said the battle was raging around Bukoba, a town of 11,000 some five miles south of the border with Uganda and along the western shore of Lake Victoria. Bukoba is about 650 miles west of Dar Es Salaam, the capital.

The statement said the Ugandans, supported by tanks and heavy artillery, invaded through the Minziro, Kakuny and Mutukula areas Monday, advanced as far as Kyaka, about 18 miles inside Tanzania, and that "the fighting is continuing."

Western diplomats said 45 Swedish missionaries and 20 Dutch citizens were evacuated from the war zone. Brown University anthropology researchers Linda and Ben Robertson also escaped, but there was no word on Brown Asst. Prof. Peter R. Schmidt, co-workers Robin Pittman and Karla Evans, 11 U.S. missionaries or 27 Canadians.

Schmidt, of Santa Rosa, Calif., was doing research on a tribe he recently discovered had learned to produce steel long before the Europeans. Pittman graduated last year from the Rhode Island School of Design, and Miss Evans is a junior at Connecticut College in New London, the Providence Journal-Bulletin said.

Ugandan exiles said Ugandan helicopters flew about 200 wounded Ugandan soldiers back home for treatment after the invasion began, and that Uganda was launching air strikes in the battle area.

Kenya called for a cease-fire and withdrawal of troops from the border area and offered to mediate. Reports on the fighting were coming from government statements and broadcasts for, which there was no independent confirmation.

Ugandan-Tanzanian ties have been strained since January 1971 when Uganda's Idi Amin came to power in a military coup and deposed President Milton Obote. Obote took political asylum in Dar Es Salaam and flies the Ugandan flag from his official residence.

Six years ago Ugandan exiles in Tanzania mounted an invasion against Amin with the tacit backing of the Tanzanian government. But the raid was repulsed in a brief, bloody battle at Mutakula, a few miles from the Tanzanian border.

Last week Amin claimed Tanzanian forces invaded Uganda. Tanzania said this was a lie and that eight Ugandan jet fighters attacked the Bukoba area last Thursday and Saturday, killing one person, injuring several others and damaging buildings. It said Tanzanian defenders shot down three of the warplanes and routed the others.

The Daily Nation, published in Nairobi, Kenya, quoted Ugandan sources as saying the Tanzanian invasion claim by Amin was to cover up a mutiny by Ugandan soldiers loyal to fallen Vice President Gen. Muteba Adrisi, who reportedly sought political asylum in Egypt.

There was speculation the Ugandan mutineers may have crossed into Tanzania for temporary sanctuary, were joined by exiles, and then recrossed into Uganda in a major attempt to unseat Amin.

Children To Get Another Treat With Second 'Magpie' Showing

Children will get their second treat of theatrical entertainment this Saturday, Nov. 4, when "The Thieving Magpies" present their second show of the fall season at 10 a.m. in the Cheri Movie Theatre on Chestnut.

Each Magpie show is made up of songs and sketches in a very informal presentation on the stage the first Saturday morning of each month, a spokesman said. October's show had almost every child in the audience up on stage playing roles in "The Boy Who Cried Wolf," "The Tortoise and the Hare," "Little Red Riding Hood," and other fables and stories.

The Thieving Magpies is a small troupe of actors who perform improvisational theatre for children of all ages as part of the Community Theatre's Education program. This month's show will feature Rich Simon, Jane Bailey, Richard Valentine and the music of Joe Jackson.

A combination of Halloween stories and scenes about autumn will be in the show including the story of the world's most famous Trick-or-Treater's, Hansel and Gretel, and how Goldilocks and the Three Bears got their name.

"I love every minute performing as one of the Magpies. What little we do rehearse is never done on the stage. We try to work with the audience doing the stories that they'd like to see," said Jane Bailey. "You really have to see it to believe it."

Parents are welcome to attend the hour long show. Admission is $1.50 per person but adults accompanied by a child under 12 get in free. The Thieving Magpies plan to perform a different show the first Saturday of every month at 10 a.m. For more information phone 759-1752 or 753-3314.

CHIROPRACTORS SEEK RESEARCH VOLUNTEERS

The International Pain Control Institute is presently engaged in what is the most extensive research program ever undertaken by the chiropractic profession. This research is directed toward determining the relationship between health problems and spinal misalignments and utilizes a screening process called Contour Analysis.

Volunteers are being sought for screening. Contour Analysis enables taking a three-dimensional picture (called Moire photography) of the topography of the surface of the spine to detect spinal stress deviations. This analysis will be correlated with leg deficiency, patient symptomatology, and levels of spinal tenderness. An analysis of this type can reveal such things as normal and abnormal stress patterns, spinal curvature, muscle spasms, muscle imbalance, signal distortions, and scoliosis.

This is a public service program for participating volunteers. The doctors are contributing their time, service, and facilities for the program.

Anyone wishing to be a volunteer may telephone participating doctors directly for information or an appointment.

Board Approves Decrease In Liability Coverage

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The Kentucky Insurance Regulatory Board has approved a 20 percent decrease in base rates for physicians and surgeons professional liability insurance coverage written by the Aetna Casualty and Surety Co.

Insurance Commissioner Harold McGuffey said Aetna, the second largest writer of such policies in Kentucky, sought the decrease based on improved loss experience in Kentucky and nationwide.

McGuffey said he thought the action would increase competition, thus exerting further pressure on other companies writing physicians malpractice insurance to monitor rate levels more closely.

Rev. Tucker Will Speak, Program

The Rev. Dan Tucker will be the speaker at the World Community Day celebration to be held by the Church Women United on Friday, Nov. 3, at 7:30 p.m. at the Martin's Chapel United Methodist Church.

Rev. Tucker is pastor of the Martin's Chapel and Good Shepherd United Methodist Churches.

The issue of human rights at home and abroad will be considered by the CWU at the meeting on Friday, according to Chrystelle Palmer, president of the local CWU. The program theme will be "Touchstones for ### Discipleship."

Every year since 1941, Church Women United has celebrated World Community Day with a service emphasizing responsible corporate action for justice and peace. Two national Human Rights Consultations—one in New York and one in northern California—were sponsored last spring by CWU in an effort to plan for such corporate action, Miss Palmer said.

Cherry Corner Plans Revival

The Cherry Corner Baptist Church, located on Highway 121 South, New Concord Road, will hold revival services starting Thursday, Nov. 2, and continuing through Sunday, Nov. 5.

Guest speaker for the services at seven o'clock each evening and eleven a.m. and seven p.m. on Sunday will be the Rev. John C. Huffman, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Mayfield.

Jeff Caldwell, music director, will direct the church choir and the congregational singing. Special music will be presented by the Baptist Student Union of Murray State University.

The pastor, the Rev. William Taylor, invites the public to attend.

McClure...

transfer. He turned the case over to Attorney General Robert Stephens.

Stephens then submitted a massive investigative report to Corns, who presented evidence to the Franklin grand jury, which heard testimony from about 20 witnesses.

Corns, expressing disappointment with Williams' ruling, said he is asking the attorney general to appeal the case.

"It is difficult to believe that this case cannot be prosecuted further because of an error of the legislature 37 years ago or a technical mistake of the reviser of statutes 25 years later," Corns said in a statement.

He said he hopes the appeal will succeed and "then the indictment can be reinstated and the case brought on for trial."

Williams' order said there is another compelling reason why the indictment must be dismissed.

"The penalty, even had it been valid at the time of the alleged offenses, does not attain the dignity of a felony," he said.

He said his interpretation of a section on penalties indicated the offense charged in the indictment "is neither fish nor foul ... it qualifies only as an offense."

The judge indicated that the language could be interpreted as meaning the alleged offense was a misdemeanor rather than a felony.

If that is the case, he said, the statute of limitations—which is one year for misdemeanors—has run out.

Gov. Julian Carroll said, "I am very pleased with the dismissal, and relieved for Russ. I expect him back at work in a few days."

Carroll's press secretary, Gary Auxier, noted that McClure was still technically taking vacation and compensatory time off and was not due to begin the leave of absence without pay until mid-December.

Auxier said under the original statement from Carroll's executive assistant, Jack Hall, the leave of absence was to remain in effect until the outcome of the legal action. He said the leave order is now cancelled.

The impetus for these consultations and for this year's World Community day service is the assertion by CWU's constituency that the question of human rights is the foremost peace issue for our time, said Miss Palmer.

All interested persons are invited to attend this special program on Friday, the CWU president said. Church Women United is composed of women from many of the churches in Murray and Calloway County.

Scouts To Hold Newspaper Drive

The semi-annual old newspaper drive by Boy Scout Troop 77 of the First Christian Church will be held Saturday, Nov. 4.

Persons having old newspapers to be picked up may call the church office, 753-3824, giving name and address, a Scout spokesman said.

But Blumenthal said he thinks a recession can be avoided. He said inflation and a weakening dollar would help to bring on a recession in any event, so "the risk of recession is reduced" if the dollar operation and Carter's new anti-inflation program succeed.

The increase in the Federal Reserve's discount rate to 9.5 percent occurred less than a month after the board had raised the rate to 8.5 percent, which at that time was a record high.

The discount rate is the interest charged by Federal Reserve banks on their loans to commercial banks, and the rate has a direct upward influence on interest rates throughout the economy.

Mayfield Man Dies In Accident On State Line

A Route 3, Mayfield, man died in a one vehicle accident on U.S. 641 just south of the Kentucky-Tennessee state line shortly after midnight, a Tennessee Highway Patrol spokesman said today.

Authorities identified the man as 23-year-old Timmons Steve Blaylock.

The spokesman said the man died when the pickup truck he was driving left the road about 50 feet south of the state line at Hazel and struck a tree. He was alone when the accident occurred. The spokesman said Blaylock was dead on the scene. The wreck happened about 12:05 a.m. today.

CCHS To Host Open House

Thursday Nov. 2

Calloway County High School will host an open house from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 2. All parents are invited to visit the school and the teachers of their children.

Each homeroom teacher will have a copy of their students' schedules. Parents are encouraged to ask their children for the name and room number of their homeroom teacher.

Parents should go to the homeroom at 7:30 and pick up their child's schedule. From this point, the bell will ring at 15-minute intervals to allow parents to visit all of the classes that their son or daughter has in a regular school day.

Refreshments will be served in the cafeteria following the class visitations.

Kentucky Council Of Churches Assembly Opens In Louisville

When the 31st Annual Assembly of Kentucky Council of Churches opens Nov. 2 the program theme will be

"Varieties of Service...One Lord: THE ECUMENICAL TASK." The theme is based upon I Corinthians 12:5.

The Assembly will begin at 11:00 a.m. November 2 with an ecumenical communion service in the sanctuary of Summit Heights United Methodist Church, 7400 Outer Loop Road, Louisville. During this service, the Right Rev.

James L. Cummings will deliver the keynote address for the meeting, underscoring the theme. The communion will be celebrated by Bishop Cummings, The Right Rev. David B. Reed of the Episcopal Diocese of Kentucky and Bishop Frank L. Robertson, of the United Methodist Louisville Episcopal Area.

Bishop Cummings will hold dialogue sessions with delegates on two other occasions during the two-day meeting. He is the newly-consecrated Presiding Bishop of the Second Episcopal District of the Christian Methodist Episcopal Church, which includes Kentucky, Ohio and Tennessee. His office is at Cincinnati.

Prior to becoming Bishop, he was pastor of Lane

Tabernacle C.M.E. Church in St. Louis, where he also served for five years on the St. Louis Board of Education. He was President of that Board in 1975-76. Bishop Cummings has been active in ecumenical affairs, representing the C.M.E. Church on the Governing Board of the National Council of Churches; serving as a C.M.E. fraternal delegate to other denomination's conventions, and working in the Indiana and Missouri Councils of Churches. He is a native of Allentown, Kentucky.

On Thursday afternoon, delegates will go into denominational caucuses to discuss matters concerning the work of each communion with and through the KCC.

Middle Gifted, Talented Are Identified

Parents of identified gifted-talented children attending Murray Middle School have been identified, a school spokesman said today.

The identification process for selecting the students is a screening procedure which includes intelligence testing, achievement scores, teacher recommendations, and identifiable talents in the performing arts, plus academic and leadership strengths.

"Grade average in school is not a criteria for admittance into the program," the spokesman said.

The gifted program includes five percent of the school population recommended by a grant Kentucky Department of Education awarded Murray city schools earlier this summer.

The spokesman said the identification process is "ongoing for the entire school system." She indicated, "Because of the lack of pertinent information for some students, later identification will be made when this information is available."

BOOK PRESENTATION — Donna Jackson of the Calloway County Homemakers, right, presents a book to Kay Greer, Southwest Elementary School librarian. The book, "Kentucky Treasure Trails, A Historical and Cultural Travel Guide," will be used in the school's library.

He Loses His Job

Famous 'Singing Bus Driver' Now Chanting Blues

By SCOTT GIBSON
Associated Press Writer
HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — The singing bus driver, who tried "turning people on to mass transit" with tunes, jokes and parties, is out of a job because he made change for his passengers, a violation of company rules.

Benford Stellmacher was fired Oct. 19. Now he's trying to get his job back through his union and with the help of Gov. Ella Grasso — a passenger on his bus during a Christmas party last year.

Congressman Ronald Sarasin, Mrs. Grasso's Republican opponent for governor, has offered Stellmacher a job driving a campaign bus.

Connecticut Transit Co. said Stellmacher made an $8 mistake — that's the amount he handled in paper bills and changed into coins for bus fare. The company won't comment on the action except to note that the rule forbids bus drivers to take money directly from passengers.

For Stellmacher, it was just another kindness he could do. Stellmacher has made a career out of turning dour commuters on his express bus into cheerful friends. He has decorated his bus for Christmas, given out songbooks so the riders could join in carol singing and even arranged bus-bound birthday parties.

A 25-year-old broadcast school dropout and former door-to-door vacuum cleaner salesman, Stellmacher found his niche 4½ years ago when he signed on with Connecticut Transit.

"Tell it, tell it everywhere, this is the bus to Depot Square," went one of Stellmacher's early songs. The tunes and his steady light banter entertained riders on runs from downtown Hartford to suburban stops.

"I think I'm turning people on to mass transit," he said. "When people get out of work they've had a hard day and they don't want someone yelling at them. They want people being courteous, to help set a mood for when they get home. They've already practiced a smile for when they go home, even if they say "That crazy Benji." And that's the name of the game."

After his first effort at verse paid off, Stellmacher came up with a longer version he'd faithfully recite to passengers as they climbed up the steps of his city bus.

"Then I started having birthday parties," he said.

Midshipman Is Awarded Scholarship

Program Underway To Bring Disabled Home

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Some severely disabled children and adults are living in institutions because their families cannot afford the high costs of special equipment or services necessary for their care. The Department for Human Resources has begun a program to give such people and their families an alternative: care in their own homes.

Through the Special Services and Equipment Fund, the department is providing items which make possible the home care of developmentally disabled persons. The fund, with a first-year budget of $20,000, provides wheelchairs, lifts and other items and services to families who cannot afford them and cannot obtain them from other sources.

Human Resources Secretary Peter Conn calls the program "a real solution to a very human need. It has been very painful for some families to place disabled loved ones in an institution. The home care made possible through this fund can be beneficial to these families and to people with disabilities," he said.

Commissioner Robert Slaton of the Health Services Bureau said, "We are pleased to be able to offer an alternative for developmentally disabled persons."

The project is part of "New Directions," a Human Resources program begun last year by Conn. It is designed to avoid unnecessary institutional placement of Kentuckians who are developmentally disabled or mentally retarded.

Local health departments and comprehensive care centers now are referring prospective clients to a committee made up of representatives of three bureaus in the Human Resources Department. The eligibility of each applicant is based in part on financial need and the availability of equipment or services through other sources.

The fund serves those who are disabled by severe disorders beginning in childhood, including mental retardation, cerebral palsy, epilepsy and autism.

ARMY CERTIFICATE OF ACHIEVEMENT — Master Sgt. Howard John Willson (right), who is assigned to the ROTC detachment at Murray State University, has been presented the Army Certificate of Achievement for outstanding performance of duty while serving as noncommissioned officer-in-charge of ROTC Second Region rifle teams during the National Rifle and Pistol Championships at Camp Perry, Ohio, July 17-Aug. 23. Lt. Col. Randall G. Rount presents the award to Willson, whose Second Region teams posted records of outstanding success during the competition. Willson, an Oklahoman, has coached the ROTC rifle team at Murray State since 1974, including national champion teams in 1976-77 and 1977-78.

Tips Focus On How To Take Care Of Your Eyes

Everything you ever wanted to know about eyes and some things that may not have even come across your field of vision are brought into focus in the October 23 Family Circle.

In a special section that covers everything from eye makeup to medical problems affecting the eyes and who can help you with them, an article by Jane E. Brody, medical writer for the New York Times, the following information comes to light:

For beautiful eyes:

Use eye cream around your eyes every night since this area has no oil glands.

Don't make eye drops a habit. There's a danger that capillaries in the eyeball may burst.

Use light colored eye shadow to emphasize an area and dark shadows to tone down problems such as droopy lids.

Don't use frosted eye shadow behind eye glasses. It looks too glinty.

Who to see for what eye care:

An ophthalmologist or oculist is a medical doctor who can treat and test for disease and also prescribe corrective lenses.

An optometrist may write a prescription for lenses or other optical aids but is not a doctor.

An optician grinds lenses according to a prescription, fits them into a frame and adjusts them to the wearer, but is not allowed to write a prescription, diagnose or treat a medical problem.

What's myth and what's fact:

Sitting too close to a movie screen or television may cause eye strain, but it won't hurt your eyes. The same is true of reading a great deal or wearing glasses that are too strong.

Eye exercises may be helpful for children with "lazy eyes", but, in most other cases, there is no significant evidence that they work.

Rape Victims May Qualify For Assistance, State AGO Explains

FRANKFORT, Ky. — A rape victim may qualify for assistance under Kentucky's Crime Victims Compensation law according to an opinion issued by the state Attorney General's Office.

Suzanne Cassidy, executive director of the Northern Kentucky Rape Crisis Center, requested an opinion concerning payment of medical costs for the examination of a rape victim conducted at the request of law enforcement officials.

Reid James, assistant attorney general, said although the results of such examinations may later be used in criminal proceedings, there is no authority stating that a city, county, urban-county government or the state would be obligated to pay for the costs.

However, for a victim to be eligible for benefits under Compensation for Crime Victims, "a person must be a victim of criminally injurious conduct," which is defined as "conduct that occurs or is attempted in this jurisdiction, poses a substantial threat of personal injury or death, and is punishable by fine, imprisonment or death," said James.

The Attorney General's Office feels that rape victims fall within this definition, he said.

The crime must be reported to police within 48 hours and the victim must fully cooperate with law enforcement officials in order to qualify. Out-of-pocket losses must exceed $100 and a claim must be filed within 90 days after the crime with the Crime Victim's Compensation Board. "The board will deny an award if the expenses incurred by the victim will not cause the victim to suffer serious financial hardships," James stated.

If the victim was confined in a prison or state institution at the time of receiving the injuries, no compensation would be awarded, according to James.

James said that besides using examinations results in criminal proceedings, the examinations also are conducted for the protection of the victim.

Math Teaching Course Set At Night At MSU

A course in teaching mathematics will be offered one evening each week at Murray State University during the spring semester as a service to teachers in the area.

Dr. David Gibbs, chairman of the Department of Mathematics, said the course entitled Teaching Mathematics 551, Teaching Mathematics II, will meet from 6 to 9 p.m. on Wednesdays, with Hazel Cowin as instructor. It may be taken for graduate or advanced undergraduate credit.

Content of the course includes such topics as evaluation, remediation and enrichment, use of teaching aids, professional activities, and the teaching of selected topics.

Anyone interested in enrolling in the course may pre-register, register on Jan. 11 or Jan. 12, or register at the first class meeting.

UNIONS GAIN
OTTAWA (AP) — Union membership in Canada totaled 3.3 million at the start of 1978, up 4.1 percent from 3.1 million a year earlier, according to the federal labor department.

Union members represent 31.3 percent of the total labor force.

CIVIL SERVICE PROMOTION — Michael A. Ruccio, the civil service supply technician for the ROTC detachment at Murray State University, has been promoted from government service grade 4 to grade 5. He is presented the certificate of promotion by Lt. Col. Randall G. Routh, professor of military science at Murray State. Ruccio, a Louisville native, has served the Murray State ROTC detachment as supply technician since July, 1976.

Shoppers Look Forward To Ads In Newspaper, Survey Reveals

On the average weekday, four out of ten adults go to food stores, one in four shops for other merchandise, and nearly half - 44 percent - look for ads in their daily newspaper before shopping, according to a study by the Newspaper Advertising Bureau.

The study, "The Audience for Newspaper Advertising: Interest in Advertising and Shopping Behavior," is based on a national probability sample of 1,519 adults who were asked about their attitudes toward advertising. Respondents were also questioned about their interest in nearly 48,000 newspaper ads (42,000 local and 5,600 national ads) of five column inches or more which appeared on randomly selected pages of "yesterday's" daily newspaper.

More than half of the women (52 percent) and nearly four out of ten men (37 percent) reported that they looked forward to seeing newspaper ads. By comparison, only about one in ten men or women said that they look forward to commercials on radio and 25 percent of the men look forward to seeing the ads in magazines.

The NAB report further notes that this widespread interest in newspaper advertising holds true for all segments of the population. Among 18-24 year olds, 43 percent stated that they look forward to newspaper ads. Among 25-54 year olds, it was 46 percent. And among those 55 and over, 41 percent said that they looked forward to seeing newspaper ads.

Overall, the respondents said that 32 percent of the local ads and 28 percent of the national ads were "very" or "somewhat" interesting to them personally.

Among the local ads, the supermarket category drew the highest interest rating (50 percent), followed by drug stores (44 percent), discount stores (43 percent), and local television ads (41 percent). Food and household supplies led the national ads, with 40 percent of each category being rated "very" or "somewhat" interesting by the respondents.

Higher than average interest ratings were also reported for the public utility (36 percent), publishing and media (35 percent), and transportation (34 percent) categories of national newspaper advertising.

Fashion Tips For Overweight Women Are Outlined By Adviser

Being overweight forces women out of fashion and into dowdiness causing them to "age before their time."

"There are no clothing tricks that will make a heavy woman thin," explains Kay Morrissey, Area Director of Weight Watchers in Kentucky & Southern Indiana. However, there are some tips that the full-figure woman can use to enhance the new fall and winter slimmer silhouette fashions.

Even as the pounds come off and the clothes get looser, it helps psychologically to look well turned out at all times, Kay explains. She advises: "Take advantage of the neat, tailored look that is replacing the more costumed outfits of a year ago. Be in step with the less chunky shoes and boots and the higher heel, as well as the less bulky, longer length skirts. Also, make use of the returning popularity of matching pieces, which can produce a lankier feel."

She adds:

"The major key to help lock an overweight woman into fashion is accessorizing with the latest favorites. It can turn neat dresses and suits into smashing looks. So, wear plenty of belts that are the major touch this year. Since they are being worn thin, at waist hip, tight or loose, they can accommodate all body types.

"Gloves are also a favored accent and should be tucked into belts or be seen peeking out of a pocket. Finishing touches like hats should always be added when they're proportioned like this year's berets, small fedoras and neat little caps with brims. They add no breadth. Instead, they give a little height and a whole lot of style.

"But, after all is done, it will serve no purpose to stick to these tricks and still just bemoan the extra weight. Instead, an effective weight reduction program should be started now to give a woman the jump on Thanksgiving, Christmas, and New Year fun. Putting it off, usually means that nothing will be coming off.

"This is a wonderful time of the year to develop a program of intelligent eating habits," Kay says. "Having the holidays coming up can add extra incentive. But, dieting should be for permanent weight loss, and not only undertaken for a special occasion. Do it once, and for all."

DERBY CHAMP
FLINT, Mich. (AP) — For Greg Cardinal, winning the 41st All-American Soap Box Derby in Akron, Ohio, recently was like a dream come true.

"I still hardly believe it," said the 13-year-old Flint boy. "It was a miracle."

Greg, who drove his sleek, white, miniature racer to victory over 83 other competitors in the senior division, received, among other things, a $3,000 scholarship. He hopes to become a veterinarian.
